ARGUMENT IN PROGRESS

In The Renshaw Case Which Will Go To Jury To-day.

CROWDS ATTEND EVERY DAY.

Commonwealth Closed With Several Witnesses To Destroy The Alibi of Defense.

The testimony for the prosecution, in the Wilson-Chafin murder trial, was concluded Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Doc Beaumont, col., stated that he heard the defendants conversing in Wilson's cell in the latter part of January or early in February. Chafin said to Wilson, "You'd better get a lawyer." Wilson replied, "I don't need a lawyer, you're the one that fired the shot." On cross examination, he admitted he didn't know that Mr. Southall had been engaged by Wilson since November. He denied that the prosecution had offered him a light sentence for his offense if he would testify. Upon being asked if Chafin was not in the Henderson jail at the time he is alleged to have heard the conversation, he said that this was before Chafin was taken away.

Geo. Rives, a Nortonville negro, was introduced and testified that Chafin had talked with him in Nortonville in November. Said that Chafin said he was en route to St. Louis, that he had just killed a white man in Hopkinsville, and was escaping to St. Louis.

Ophelia Golden, a negro woman, stated that she was walking along on Durrett's avenue, and Chafin approached her and wanted to walk with her. She told him she wouldn't walk with him, to which he replied, "If you don't walk with me, you won't do anybody else any good. I've shot one man. I killed Mr. Renshaw." This was about the time of the fair, a few days after the murder.

Eugene Harrison, deputy jailer, introduced a letter written by Chafin to his mother. He wanted his folks to see Blind Mary and get her to help him. Complained of his treatment and of injustice, and stated rather than be convicted, he would commit suicide or kill the jailer. Reiterated his innocence.

Lizzie Hart, col., did not know of any connection existing between Tip Leavell and Chafin.

At this juncture, the commonwealth announced the sickness of Stephen Haynes, their last witness, and the court adjourned till Saturday morning. He testified that he heard Chafin threaten to kill somebody to get some money. At 10:30 the commonwealth closed and Bubber Chafin was the first defense witness. He told the same story he has stuck to all along; said he worked the entire day in his father's tobacco field on Durrett avenue and did not hear of the shooting until he came down town after supper. Said he was not on the Clarksville pike at all that day, did not see Mr. Renshaw that day and only knew him by sight and had nothing at all against him. Denied that he had stated to Rives or the Gholson woman that he had shot Mr. Renshaw or anybody else or that he had threatened to kill some one in talking to Haynes, and denied every incriminating bit of evidence which the prosecution had brought out against him. Said he was not with Ernest Wilson at all that day and had not seen him since the previous Sunday.

A great many defense witnesses were introduced Saturday in support of the alibi and general denial of the defendants. The case was resumed yesterday morning.

The prosecution introduced several witnesses in rebuttal yesterday and the case was ready for argument in the afternoon. There may be several speeches and the jury will take the case some time to day. Interest has been great throughout the trial, the court room at times being packed with people, many standing up.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

Baseball Team Is Training For A Lively Spring Season.

Baseball practice began in earnest last week and a large number of candidates were out every afternoon in the week working out. Every man but one from last year's nine is back and the prospects point to the best team in the history of the school. A splendid schedule has been made out, including three games with Clarksville, two with Princeton, two with Bethel College, Russellville, and one with V. T. S. of Elkton.

Arrangements are under way for another High School play, to be given at the close of school. The play last year, "A Rival by Request," was a great success and the students are putting forth every effort to make this year's production the best dramatic presentation ever offered to the public by the high school. Miss Virginia Williamson is coaching the play.

Friday Prof. Moore called for a fire drill and the building was emptied in an orderly manner and in a very few minutes after the warning bell was sounded. Certain ones of the boys have been selected as men and take their places at the extinguishers when the fire alarm is given.

The work on the annual is well under way this year and the first bunch of copy is almost ready to be handed in. Manager Weeks has gotten the largest subscription list that has ever been signed up and there is much interest in the "Orange and Black."

The Ciceronian and Delphi Literary Societies are making plans for an open session to be held in a few weeks. This will be the first debate between the societies during the year.

ITALY AND GREECE TO ENTER WAR

Recent Developments Strongly Tend To Confirm This Belief.

GUARANTEES ARE GIVEN.

Austria Is Strengthening Her Frontier And Italy Is Making Preparations.

London, March 22.—The relations between Italy and Austria are believed to have reached an acute stage. A Rome dispatch says Austrian and German subjects have been advised by their consuls to leave Italy in the shortest possible time. Austria has commenced strengthening her southern frontier, and according to a dispatch Italian officers of all arms belonging to the first line, who have been on half pay, have been called to the colors. In military circles this order is considered significant. No Austrian news on the subject is available in London, the censor of that country having, it is said, prohibited comments.

There also are reports that Greece is preparing to adopt a more active attitude. Following a series of prolonged cabinet meetings at Athens, the Greek minister of marine is quoted as having said that the Greek government had received all guarantees, and to have indicated that the country was about to engage in some enterprise.

The allied fleet is preparing for a renewal of the attack on the Dardanelles, delayed by unfavorable weather. At a council of the admirals aboard the French battleship Suffren, it is reported that a decision was reached to make a new general attack in which all the warships will take part.

Reverting to their policy of last fall, the Germans early Sunday attacked Paris with aircraft. Four Zeppelins started for the city, but only two reached it. These dropped bombs injuring a number of persons and setting fire to buildings. The French airmen whose duty it is to guard the city, pursued the Germans, but, owing to the mist, they were unable to overtake the airships.

As far as the land operations are concerned, the eastern front holds the most interest. The Russians, according to Petrograd, are pressing the Germans back to the East Prussian frontier, their latest achievement being to defeat three German columns on the road from Ostrolenka to Mysyniec. From the same source comes a statement that Prezemysl is at its last gasp and that the garrison is getting rid of its ammunition preparatory to surrender.

In the west the only news comes from the German official report, which claims minor successes in Campagne, north of Beausejour and in the Vosges, where they took French prisoners.

General Botha, at the head of the Union of South Africa forces, is reported to have gained an important success over the Germans in German Southwest Africa, capturing an entrenched position and taking 200 prisoners and two guns near Swakopmund.

EQUINOCTIAL SNOWFALL

Snow began to fall in the early hours of Sunday morning and continued to fall most of the day Sunday in flakes that melted as they fell. During Sunday night it continued to fall at intervals until an inch or more remained on the ground yesterday morning. This was the first snowfall during the present month and will probably be the last of the season, as spring is now well advanced. The sun shone brightly yesterday and the snow soon disappeared.

Austria's reply to Italy is that any territory she should agree to cede should be conveyed after the war, when Italy has fulfilled her part of the agreement to remain neutral. In other words, Austria is not willing to pay in advance, while Italy is not willing to wait until a time when Austria may not have the goods to deliver. In the meanwhile, Germany is pressing Austria to make any sacrifice, while a strong peace party has arisen in the part of Austria occupied by the Russians, urging that Austria make peace regardless of Germany.

The present Democratic platform declaring for the County Unit Law in Kentucky is the law of the Democratic party until changed by the same authority that made it. A candidate for Governor, or any other office, who bolts his party's platform on this question and attempts to make a different one to suit himself is taking a position that loyal Democrats will be under no obligation to endorse at the polls. If we do not provide a new platform for the candidates to run on this fall, the old will represent the party's principles and a candidate holding to other principles is not a good Democrat. Isn't that a plain proposition, clearly stated?

The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at San Francisco has affirmed the lower court in the convictions under the White Slave law of F. Drew Caminetti and Maury I. Diggs, society leaders of San Francisco and married men. Diggs and Caminetti were tried and convicted before District Judge William C. Van Fleet in 1913, for the transportation of Lola Norris and Warsha Warrington from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Nev., for immoral purposes. Diggs was sentenced to imprisonment on McNeil Island for two years and fined $2,000. Caminetti was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment and was fined $1,500. The case was taken to the higher court on a writ of error.

DAIRY

TESTS OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Apparatus Constructed at Suggestion of Wisconsin Experts Will Show
Amount of Dirt in Milk.(By S. M. BABCOCK and E. H. FAR-LINGTON.)

There is a growing demand among milk consumers as well as dealers and manufacturers of high-grade dairy products for a new test that will show the cleanliness and purity of each lot of milk received. The testing of milk at creameries and cheese factories is usually confined to a fat determination by the Babcock test. The acid is also used more or less for inspecting different lots of milk and cream.

A fairly good idea of the extent to which each lot of milk has been contaminated may be obtained by a test that will show the amount of dirt contained in a definite quantity of milk.

A milk sediment test, which was constructed by E. H. Lorenz, Madison, Wis., according to suggestions made by the writers, is herewith described. This test may be used for testing a large number of lots of milk. Samples of one pint of milk will filter through it as fast as each lot is ready.

The inside cylinder is two and one-half inches in diameter and six inches long. It is funnel-shaped at the bottom, terminating in an opening about an inch in diameter. A cap on the bottom contains a wire gauze strainer on which a thin disk of absorbent cotton is placed. This cap is easily attached to the apparatus by means of a bladed wire loop. After a sample of milk has been filtered through the apparatus, the cap containing the gauze and the cotton filter is detached and the cotton disk placed on a piece of white paper to dry. This cotton contains the dirt and sediment collected from one pint of milk. The amount of dirt obtained will vary with different lots of milk and the disk when dry may be returned to the milk producer as evidence of the degree of cleanliness of his milk.

Each cap should have a number stamped in the metal and as fast as one lot of milk is tested the cap may be removed and another put in place for the next sample. The absorbent cotton disks used as filters are stamped out to fit the cap and wire gauze. The success of filtering depends largely on the texture of these disks which should be made of absorbent cotton that contains no starch or "sizing." The latter have a glossy surface, but the "unsized" cotton or cotton batting cut out in the shape of round disks about one-eighth inch thick allows the hot milk to filter rapidly through it and retains the fine dirt which is suspended in the milk. The milk is kept hot in this tester during filtering by means of a hot water jacket surrounding the inner cylinder.

KEEP THE CALVES GROWING
Large Barrel and Digestive Organs
Should Be Developed by Feeding
Good Quality of Roughage.

Calves should be kept growing continuously and vigorously from birth. No grain should be fed after the calf is six months old if it can be kept in proper growing condition without it. A large barrel and digestive organs should be developed by feeding a good quality of roughage when not on pasture. After calves have reached six months of age they can be grown better and cheaper on good pasture or corn silage and good alfalfa hay than on any other feeds, and, as roughage is cheaper than concentrates, these are the feeds from which we wish the mature animals to have the ability to get more of their nutriment.

Heating Milk for Calves.
When heating milk for calves it is best to place the vessel containing it in a pan of hot water, then there is no danger of its being burnt or boiled.

Rosy As A Girl.

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times, was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years, without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a schoolgirl." Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try it. At all druggists.—Advertisement.

Not Infallible.

The new system of memory training was being taught in a village school near Crook, and the teacher was becoming enthusiastic. "You see," he said, addressing the bright pupil, "in order to fix a thing in your mind you should conjure up some sort of picture in your mind's eye, representing what you want to bear in mind." "Yes, sir," said the bright pupil; "It sounds very nice, and I've no doubt the advice is excellent if you could tell me what it means." "Well, for instance," said the teacher, "supposing you want to remember the name of a poet—Bobby Burns. Fix in your mind's eye a picture of a policeman in flames. See—Bobby Burns!" "Yes, I see, sir," said the bright pupil. "But how is one to know that it does not represent Robert Browning?"

METHOD FOR DOCKING LAMBS

Operation Should Be Performed When
Youngsters Are About Ten Days
Old—Short Tail Desired.

Docking should be done when the lambs are about ten days old. The easiest method is to place the lamb between the operator's legs, its rear end in front of him. The operator lifts the tail and with a heavy knife pushes the skin half way on the underside of the third vertebra back to its juncture with the second. Then with a sharp cut he severs the tail at this point. Many shepherds leave the tail one vertebra longer, but a short tail is greatly to be desired since it cannot collect so much manure.

Very seldom, if the lamb is docked early, will there be sufficient bleeding to cause any material harm. If profuse bleeding does occur, a cord should be tied very tightly around the stump of the tail. Pincers heated to a high temperature, may also be used for this purpose, and by many are preferred. The tail is severed by closing them upon it. The stump is seared or burned, which completely prevents bleeding. However, a burn will not heal so quickly as a clean cut, and in the former condition suppuration or the formation of pus underneath the seal may occur.

Of course, there is a greater liability of dangerous infection where the knife, without cauterization, is used, since the seared surface tends to prevent the entrance of bacteria. Infection, however, can be avoided by the maintenance of cleanly and sanitary surroundings. The pincers can satisfactorily be adopted for docking lambs several weeks old, when the contagency of bleeding is more likely.

MAKE PROFITS WITH STEERS

Animals Must Have Good Beef Characteristics, a Wide, Strong Back and a Large Heart Girth.

How to select steers that will make good gains and return substantial profits should be well known by the man who plans to market his crops as feed this fall or winter.

John L. Torney of the University of Wisconsin Agricultural Experimental station, is urging cattle feeders to look for the following characteristics in animals which they intend to finish for the market:

"Steers, if they are to make profitable gains in the feed lot, must have beef characteristics, a wide, strong back, and a large heart girth.

"They must have a strong frame and plenty of room for the vital organs. For an animal with a weak constitution can not hold up through the feeding season.

"A wide head and muzzle, which usually indicate good feeding qualities. "Short legs, heavy blades, and arched ribs are essential in the feeding animal.

"The skin should be reasonably thick, soft, and covered by a heavy coat of hair.

"The animal should have a straight back and low set appearance, due to the depth of body and short legs."

CONVENIENT TO SLOP SWINE

Handy Device Attached to Any Ordinary Trough Prevents Hogs From Interfering With Pouring.

Here is a handy device for feeding hogs. To any ordinary trough attach an upright box 2½ feet long and 8 by 4 inches in diameter, flaring at the top, writes Joseph Volden of Westby,

Good Way to Slop Hogs.

Wis., in Missouri Valley Farmer. The pigs can never interfere with the pouring of slop into the trough, and they will soon learn to wait for their drink at the bottom of the spout.

Selection of Breeding Sows.

Select the breeding sows from early spring litters when they are six months old. One can form an opinion which ones are most likely to prove long-bodied, good-formed, of quiet disposition, good feeders and with a tendency to grow frame and size rather than put on an excess of fat. Breed the gilt when about ten months old and if she proves herself a good breeder, raising uniform litters of strong, healthy pigs, keep her for several years, or as long as she is profitable.

No Place for Misfit.

Breeding of horses must be done intelligently, because there is no place in the market for a misfit.

WAR! What Is It
All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour glistening just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE!

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams. Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS manner of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of chivalry and the crusades through the Renaissance up to contemporaneous history, which Prof. Groenewegen completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. To your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

JUST TRICK OF THE MIND

Indianapolis Man Had Allowed His Thoughts to Run in a Groove of the Past.

George Rubens, who was for many years with a leading clothing house in Indianapolis, recently withdrew from the clothing business and associated himself with an electric light company. One day recently he was standing in the door of the electric light company's office when he was approached by a well-known Indianapolis business man.

"Hello, Rubens," said the man. "I want you to have the collar on this coat changed for me. I'll leave it and you can—"

"Where do you think you are?" interrupted Rubens.

The man looked at Rubens and then up at the sign on the window and laughed.

"Well, if that doesn't just show what a senry trick a man's mind will play on him," he said. "I left home with two things on my mind this morning. I wanted to come here and pay my electric light bill and I wanted to go to your old stand and leave this coat. When I saw you I lost my geographical bearings and associated you, from long habit, with my clothes. Come on and have a cigar and forget it."

Rubens took the cigar, but couldn't forget it. It seemed too good a joke to go up in smoke.—Indianapolis News.

HOUSE HUNTING

Mr. Roach—How much will you charge to rent me a room in your house?

TO BE SURE.

"When you women get the ballot, what will you be wanting next, I wonder?" said Mr. Twobble, irritably.

AT PALM BEACH.

"How do you like your hotel, Clara?"

"Oh, fine! The rooms are small and dark and the food is badly cooked; but the gossip is excellent."—Judge.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL.

"You can't have your cake and eat it."

"True enough, but you can take in the sights of a city and be taken in at the same time."

"Do you believe in telepathy?"
"Not exactly. But I have listened to so many long speeches that I'd like to see it tried."

NATURAL SUCCESS.

"How did the article on the iteb for wealth suit you?"

"First rate. It came right up to the scratch."

IN THE TRADE.

"I had a woman to read my hand and I'm to have a fine future."

"Why not? It stands to reason she'd promise you palmy days."

NASHVILLE BOY

Invents and Flies a Non-Falling Aeroplane With Unique Feature.

Everett D. Brewer, a Nashville boy, has invented and constructed an aeroplane in which he made a trip over the city of Nashville Saturday at an elevation of 3,600 feet, says the Tennessean.

Some new features in the aeroplane are fully covered by patents and the youthful inventor claims it is the only air machine in existence that cannot fall to earth, unless some important part, such as the planes or body, breaks. It is automatically controlled by the shifting of the planes, and the success of the invention was brought out strongly Saturday in a high wind before the few friends and curious strangers who witnessed the flights.

With the exception of the motor and propeller, the aeroplane was constructed entirely by Brewer, who is an employee of the R. G. Dunn company, of this city, and a mechanic of no mean ability. In the flights Saturday Wright motor and propellers had been fitted to the machine, which rose without a hitch and skimmed the air at the rate of fifty miles an hour.

One of the unique features included in the machine is that it can be guided upon the ground like an automobile, a new departure, as all aeroplanes heretofore were unable to guide their course after lighting and were liable to crash into anything that stood before them. The Brewer machine can be run in complete circles after lighting if necessary to escape some object upon the ground.

The machine is fifty-five feet in length and is twenty-eight feet across, having four planes, each measuring ten by fourteen feet.

NONNENBRUCHE POTASH MINES.

Twelve billion dollars' worth of potash deposits are almost within the grasp of the French army in Alsace and will pass into the possession of France when Mulhausen is retaken. This acquisition alone, if it can be achieved, will largely compensate France for its huge war expenditure.

The deposits are of world-wide repute and are known as the Nonnenbruche mines. They are situated on a strategic road from Thann to Mulhausen.

Potash was discovered there in 1904 and was exploited by a German syndicate. Thus, by seizing the deposits, France will not impoverish the conquered province of Alsace. The Nonnenbruche yield was the cause of a grave potash dispute between the United States and Germany a few years ago.

When Anybody Finds a Cure He Is Generally Willing To Tell His Neighbor

¶ The willingness of one neighbor to tell another neighbor in a private way of the benefit received from Peruna, explains the popularity of Peruna more than all the advertising that has been done.

¶ The fear of the publicity undoubtedly prevents the majority of such people from writing a testimonial to be used in the newspaper. But in spite of that we are receiving fine testimonials continually.

ANEMIA—Mrs. F. A. DeWitt, Marengo, Ohio, says: "I believe Peruna to be the best tonic. I recommend it for any run-down condition of the system."

SPRING COLDS—Mrs. Rhoda Stufflebeam, Dunch, Iowa: "A spring cold I took settled on my lungs. Coughed. Could not sleep. We feared consumption. Thanks to Peruna, I am a well woman today."

CATARRH—Mrs. Sadie Allen, Joseph, Oregon: "My little boy is entirely cured of catarrh of the ears by Peruna. Am thankful for your good advice."

SPRING TONIC—Mrs. Wm. McRoberts, Brown Valley, Minn.: "Taken in spring Peruna tones up the system, acts as a tonic. I consider Peruna a whole family medicine chest."

¶ How did they hear of Peruna?

¶ Simply because one neighbor is always willing to tell another one he has found a cure. Neighborly conversation of grateful patients has done more for Peruna than advertising. Much more.

Victim of a Painless Ache.

An East side couple, accompanied by their four-year-old marvel, started for a motion picture show the other night. On the way the little boy said: "Oh, mamma, I've got a tummy ache." Mother then suggested that they should return home at once, without seeing the movie. The little fellow thought better of it. "My tummy aches," he mumbled, "but it doesn't hurt."—Kansas City Star.

Deductive Reasoning.

"Mamma, what's a bookworm?" asked small Eloise. "A person who loves to collect and study books, dear," was the reply. A few days later a woman called whose fingers were decorated with innumerable rings. "Oh, mamma," exclaimed Eloise, "look at Mrs. Smith's rings! She must be a ringworm."

Easy-Going Monarch.

Lord Mayors have changed with the times. Dignity has succeeded impudence. One recalls a lord mayor who entertained Charles II and "toasted" so well and so unwisely that when his royal guest left he "pursued him hastily, and catching him fast by the hand, cried out with a vehement oath and accent, 'Sir, you shall stay and take 'tother bottle.' The airy monarch looked kindly at him, and with a smile repeated this line of the old song, 'He that's drunk is as great as a king,' and immediately turned back and complied with his landlord." Charles was ever sportsman before king!—London Chronicle.

HOW ADOLPH GOT THE IRON CROSS; STOOD STILL; IT WAS PINNED ON.

Berlin—All prizes for brevity, and a few more besides for modesty, go to a Baden peasant who for some time has been with the forces in Flanders. His wife has just made public the following laconic letters from him. The first reads:

"Dear Wife: I am still alive, and have received your bundle. If the boy is bad, spank him. Greetings, Adolph."

Shortly after came a second:

"Dear Bertha: I am still alive, which surprises me very much. If the boy still is naughty, spank him again. Greetings, Adolph."

The third communication was in the form of a photograph of Adolph's troop, showing him decorated with the Iron Cross. No mention, however, was made of the medal, and the picture merely bore on the reverse side this brief note:

"Dear Bertha: I was wounded but am well again, and to-morrow I go at it again. If the boy is naughty, box his ears. Greetings, Adolph."

Perplexed, the wife wrote her husband demanding to know how he had received the Iron Cross, and received the following illuminating reply:

"It was very simple about the Iron Cross. The Major ordered me to stand still, and the Sergeant Major pinned it on. Greetings, Adolph."

THIRTY YEARS AS PASTOR

Hopkinsville The Home of One of The Leading Colored Ministers of Kentucky.

Rev. Edward Williams, pastor of the Virginia Street Colored Baptist church, has held the same pastorate for nearly 30 years. He easily ranks amongst the most distinguished men of his race in the Baptist denomination of the State. He came to Hopkinsville in the eighties and was pastor of the church located at that time at Fourteenth and Virginia streets.

In 1894 when the white Baptists moved their church to Fourteenth and Main negotiations were entered into and a deal made with the colored church to move to the present site at Third and Virginia streets. Rev. Williams conducted the negotiations for his church and with the amount realized as a nucleus, started the movement to erect the present large and handsome edifice, completed about 20 years ago.

His personal influence was great among white as well as colored people and his plans were carried through successfully. He is still the beloved pastor of the church he has served all these years. He is now 69 years of age, but is still active and alert physically and mentally and appears much younger than he is.

Dr. Williams has filled many positions of honor in his church work. He was for many years secretary of the local association and rose to be moderator of the General Association of Colored Baptists. He is almost white, with swarthy complexion, a full beard and an intelligent face set off by keen dark eyes. He is a man of ability, a fluent talker and a leader in morality as well as in church matters. His work and influence are always for good and his career in this city has been of incalculable benefit to his race.

Due to his influence and that of others of his character there has never been any serious race disturbance in Hopkinsville and with nearly 40 per cent of the population colored, the community is noted for its good feeling between the races.

The Kentuckian is moved to pay this deserved tribute to the life work of one of the city's leading colored men, in justice to the man and in appreciation of the service he has rendered, not only as a minister but as a citizen.

HUMAN NATURE

"Their parents made the match, I believe."

"I thought they opposed it."

"Yes; that's how they made it."

Real Wisdom.

Since courtesy cannot be made compulsory, the next best course is to avoid rudeness, the second best is to overlook it. It is hardly worth while to resent the behavior of those whom we may never meet again, is it? We should be wise enough to avoid positions where we know rudeness is to be expected; we avoid streets with a bad reputation because we have a rather clear idea of the experience we might meet if we ventured in them, especially after dark.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. P. J. CHENEY, & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Catarrh Pills for constipation.

The Deity of Christ

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Superintendent of Missions
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—1 and the Father are one. John 10:30.

I. Prophecies relating to Christ which were uttered hundreds of years before he was born. (Ps. 16:9-11; 22:1, 8, 18; 68:18; Isaiah 7:14; 9:1-6; 40:9-11, 53.) These prophecies foretold where Christ should be born, the family of which he should be born, the way in which he should be received (a way entirely different from what would be expected), his death and the precise manner of it, his burial with all the accompanying circumstances, his resurrection, ascension, and final victory.

II. The New Testament ascribes to Christ divine titles which the Old Testament applies to God (Heb. 1:8). "But of the Son he saith, 'Thy throne, O God, is forever and ever.'" In John 20:28, Thomas answered and said unto him, "My Lord and my God;" and Jesus did not rebuke him.

III. In Heb. 1:3, 10, the creation of the world is ascribed to Christ. In Acts 20:28 we have the expression, "The church of God which he hath purchased with his own blood."

IV. Jesus distinctly claims to be equal with God, and to be entitled to the same honor and adoration. He also assumes divine authority and power. "I and the Father are one" (John 10:30). "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father" (John 14:9).

V. John 10:33 shows that Jesus Christ was put to death by the Unbelievers of his day. "The Jews answered him, for a good work we stone thee not, but for blasphemy; and because that thou, being a man, makest thyself God."

VI. The position which many take that Jesus is simply a good man, but not divine, is untenable. Either he was what he claimed to be, or else he was the greatest impostor the world has ever seen. That he was not an impostor is demonstrated by two things. First, his resurrection from the dead, which is the best attested fact in history. Secondly, that he was not an impostor is shown by the influence which his life and teachings have had upon the world, transforming the lives of millions, making bad men good, and good men better, converting drunkards and murderers and libertines into saints, and leading multitudes out of idolatry and sin into the light and liberty of the gospel.

VII. There are some who claim that Jesus was thoroughly sincere in all that he said, but that he was mistaken and simply imagined himself to be the Son of God. They refer to what they call the contradictions in his testimony, as for instance in his testimony, "I and my Father are one," and in another place, "The Father is greater than I." They say that he cannot be one with God and at the same time inferior to God. A young man once raised this objection in the inquiry room and the preacher said to him in reply, "Suppose that you had been on earth when Jesus was here and had heard him make these contradictory statements; and had asked him, saying, 'Master, I do not quite understand you. A little while ago you said, 'He that hath seen me hath seen the Father,' and now you say, 'My Father is greater than I.' And suppose he had said in reply, 'My child, what if, for the purpose of your redemption from sin, I voluntarily laid aside my eternal glory and suffered myself to be born of a woman, thus limiting my being to the conditions of your nature that I might, in that nature, offer to God such a sacrifice for sin as would enable him to proclaim forgiveness of sins to the whole world? I am indeed one with the Father; but for purposes of atonement I have voluntarily assumed an inferior position, that I might thus take your place and die, which I could not have done unless I had taken a subordinate place, you, and your very nature. Thus I sometimes speak of my eternal relation to God, and sometimes of my relation to him as the messenger of the covenant sent forth to redeem.'"

He listened attentively and then said, "Did Christ ever make such an explanation?" He was asked to read Philippians 2:5-8. He read it and said, "Wonderful! Wonderful! Yes, the Son of God made himself of no reputation for me, and took my nature, and died on the cross for me!" Then looking up he said, "What have I got to do about it?"

"Accept him; believe on him; and confess him as your Savior."

"May I?" Opening his Bible the preacher turned to Romans 10:9 and read, "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."

Madisonville, Ky., March 19.—The Western Kentucky Baptist Sunday School association, which has been in session here since last Tuesday, closed after a very successful meeting. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: E. L. Howard, Central City, president; Homer Feids, Russellville, first vice-president; W. I. Clark, Smithland, second vice-president; Ben Conno-way, Providence, third vice-president; H. B. Taylor, Murray, secretary, and C. H. Wilson, Kevil, treasurer. Sturgis was named as the next meeting place of the association. About 175 delegates attended the convention.

Ceremony and Cannon Ball. There is a tale told about an officer who was conversing with Marlborough during a hot engagement, and insisted on taking off his hat and bowing profoundly every time he spoke to the duke. That great man suggested that at such a time they might very well waive all ceremony. But the officer bowed deeply to his commander's suggestion, and just as he was bending down a cannon ball cleared him and took off the head of a comrade. The officer, on coming up again, and seeing what had happened, remarked calmly: "Your grace perceives that one loses nothing by politeness." — London News.

SAM STARLING HOUSE

One Of The Oldest In The County, Burned Saturday.

The old landmark on the Sam Starling farm two miles north of town, on the Madisonville road, was burned Saturday morning. It was occupied by a family named Faulkner and only the children of the family were at home when the fire occurred.

The old farm house was one of the oldest in the county, being more than 100 years old. It was in poor repair and the loss is not large. How the fire originated is not known.

Baby Knew Another Song.

The most embarrassing moments of my life, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, were one day while I was entertaining the minister, and wishing to display the sweet voice and really excellent memory of my little three-year-old, I coaxed her to sing the little song I had taught her, namely, "Baby's Boat's a Silver Moon." I had overlooked the fact, however, that the baby's father had taken her to the vaudeville show the other day, and consequently was greatly horrified when she lifted her little skirts and, capering about with an impish look, rattled out: "He's a debbil; he's a debbil in his own home town."

Do You Continually Feel Sluggish, Disinterested?

If you do, it is probably caused by your liver. When the liver fails to perform its functions properly, the system becomes clogged with poisonous matter, that weighs you down mentally and physically.

PLACE BLAME ON BUILDERS

Structures in Italy Not Erected With a View to Danger From Earthquakes.

It might be thought that people living in the Italian earthquake zones would modify building methods to suit conditions. It is because they have not done so that the ruin is so complete. An earthquake as severe as that which leveled Messina might visit an American frame-built village and cause little loss of life. Earthquake-ridden Japan uses an even lighter type of structure. The new Messina, rising slowly on its ruins, is expected to be almost earthquake-proof, with its wide streets, low structures and generous use of steel in framing.

The usual construction in Avezzano was like that in Messina. The worst danger was the narrow streets, where people who got safely out of their homes were caught by falling walls. These heavy walls were filled in with rubble, with the upper stories arched; and the Spanish saying that an arch never sleeps is as true for Italy. Iron is lacking in buildings, some of which reckoned centuries of use. There came a time in medieval Rome itself when iron was so scarce that men rigged boats' chairs and toiled with mallet and chisel to cut out of ancient buildings the iron that clamped them together, giving the old walls their present pockmarked appearance.

Changing a Word's Meaning.

"Pension" is among the numerous cases of words of Latin origin specialized to mean something which the original did not mean to the Romans. "Pensio" signified simply a payment in the broadest sense; and we are at liberty to draw the sound moral that a pension is not really something thrown in as a gratuity, but deferred pay. The word for a soldier's pay was "stipendium;" and here we have another curious shift of meaning. Nobody speaks of a soldier's "stipend" now; it is a magistrate or a clergyman whose pay receives that name. The "stipendium" was paid in lumps three or four times a year, and the word came to be used to mean a year's term of service.

REPORT OXEN "COMING BACK"

Seems to Be More Than a Probability of Their Resuming Their Place in Farm Labor.

A generation ago the use of oxen for draft purposes was common wherever agricultural operations were in progress, remarks the Louisville Courier-Journal. But the slow-moving oxen were replaced by more rapid teams of mules or horses. Nowadays an ox team is seen occasionally in a few counties, especially in those in which there still is "logging" to do, but the sight is a novel one to a majority of residents of the state who have grown up within the last 30 years.

According to the Breeders' Gazette, the economic value of the ox is bringing him back into favor. There are, nowadays, steam and gasoline tractors which are advertised as a great improvement upon the everlasting mule, whose history is as old as that of man, and who will never be put out of business by any invention whatsoever. It is rather surprising, however, to hear of the use of ox teams being revived at a period in which the adage "time is money" is upon everybody's tongue, and when the fact that time is money was never more widely realized by the agricultural community.

NOW MONKEY HAS MEASLES

Got the Malady From Boy Friend Whom He Had Been Permitted to Visit.

Jat, one of the big monkeys at the Avondale zoo here, has the measles, says the Birmingham (Ala.) News.

Pat's keeper has prescribed a dose of castor oil, and the monkey is expected to get well in a short time.

Pat caught the measles from his friend, Jack Allen, a nephew of the keeper, Dayton Allen. Pat and the boy are great friends. The boy caught the measles and was confined to bed. Pat got lonesome and insisted on seeing his friend. He didn't show his insistence in the usual way, but Mr. Allen says he could not misinterpret the monkey's despondence and lack of appetite. He took the monkey to see the boy.

As soon as Pat got in the door he broke away from the keeper, jumped on the bed, and began a frolic with Jack. Two days later Pat was all broken out with the measles and very sick.

Mr. Allen didn't confine the two friends to the same bed, but he did take Pat home for treatment, and says the monkey is doing well.

Not A Day In Bed.

Grambling, S. C.—In a letter from Grambling, Mrs. Lula Walden, says: 'I was so weak before I began taking Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Since taking it, I do all the housework for my family of nine, and have not been in bed a day. Cardui is the greatest remedy for women, on earth.' Weak women need Cardui. It is the ideal women's tonic, because it is especially adapted for women's needs. It relieves backache, headache, dragging feelings, and other female misery. Try Cardui. A few doses will show you what it can do for you. It may be just what you want.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed. As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." LIKE THE "DUMDUM"

Sharp-Pointed Bullet May Make Fearful Wound.

Range at Which Projectile Is Fired and Age of the Man Hit Are Factors in Amount of Damage Done.

American army surgeons are convinced that under normal conditions all modern bullets are more humane than those formerly used, in spite of the fact that they travel at higher speed and have a far wider range. They are so sharp pointed that when they strike the soft tissues alone they make clean-cut, narrow wounds which heal very quickly.

When, however, they take a side-wise twist, or develop irregular, jagged edges through previously striking or glancing off some hard object, they have an explosive effect which produces just such terrible wounds as the "dumdum." These effects are most liable to occur in vital organs inclosed in resisting bony walls, like the brain or heart, and are nearly always fatal.

The range at which bullets are fired and the ages of the men they hit have been found to have a marked influence on the character of the wounds they make.

The bones of younger men usually have a great amount of animal matter, consequently are less brittle than those of older men. The less resistance met by the bullet in the comparatively softer bones, at short ranges, permits the passage of the bullet without explosive effect. In the case of the older and more brittle bones the bullet at long ranges causes great damage, especially as the bullet at these long ranges has become unsteady from loss of velocity and strikes the bone sideways, thus transferring its energy over a greater area than if it had struck point on.

Owing to the change in the position of bullets fired at long ranges, the effect produced in the bony tissues is at first in the short ranges very severe from the high velocity, but in the midranges the effects are less severe because of loss in velocity, and at long ranges the effects become severe again because of the impact being made with the side of the bullet.

Bad Taste as Seen in Japan.

Rector Aston, the scholarly Japanese secretary to the British legation in Tokyo, summarized what Kenko, the fourteenth century writer of "Tsurezure Gusa," considered to be "bad taste," thus:

Too much furniture in one's living room.
Too many pens in a stand.
Too many Buddhas in a private shrine.
Too many rocks, trees and herbs in a garden.
Too many children in a house.
Too many words when men meet.
Too many books in a bookcase there can never be, nor too much litter in a dust heap.—London Saturday Review.

Parasite Destroys San Jose Scale.

A parasite which destroys the dreaded San Jose scale has been discovered, and is now being used in Pennsylvania, where it has been highly successful in combating the ravages of the pest which has done such damage to American fruit and nut trees. The parasite is the Chalcid fly, which comes from the same part of China from which the San Jose scale first came. There the Chalcid fly has effectively checked the scale.

Patterns by Kaleidoscope.

Doctor Puffrich, one of the experts of the Carl Zeiss Optical company in Germany, has constructed a kaleidoscope on scientific principles and of mathematical accuracy. Its use is for making kaleidoscopic patterns for textiles, linoleums, decorations, etc., some of those it has produced being of extraordinary beauty. He calls it the photokaleidograph, because it is part of a camera that photographs the patterns it forms.

Dr. Guy Hinsdale of Hot Springs, Va., points out that it is not the expired air of consumptives that carries infection, but the sputum and tiny drops of moisture coughed up by the patient that carry the bacilli and communicate the disease to others.

DEATH CLAIMS

Little Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Crenshaw.

Virginia Crenshaw, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Crenshaw, died at one o'clock yesterday, after a critical illness of a week or more, of colitis. She was sixteen months old, an only child and the pride of the hearts of her devoted parents, to whom the sympathies of the whole city go out in their heart-breaking sorrow. The little one's body will be taken to Cadiz on the noon train today for interment.

COMMENT THAT WAS POINTED

Many, However, Will Consider That Irishman's Observation Was Justified.

"It takes the Irish race not only to exhibit true politeness and consideration, but to excel as philosophers," said W. H. Price of Columbus, O., at Washington. "An incident I witnessed a few days ago in a Washington street car impressed this thought upon me. The car was crowded. An Irishman was wedged in between two hulking male passengers, who were apparently absorbed in their papers. The son of the 'ould sod' had been imbibing not wisely but too well, and he had all he could do to keep awake.

"An old woman trudged painfully into the car. Her appearance indicated that she might recently have occupied a sickbed. She looked around, but none of the men appeared to notice her, though it was observable that the two big men reading their newspapers glanced up and glanced down again. Suddenly the Irishman caught sight of the woman, and he jumped up. With a profound bow, which almost lost him his equilibrium, he offered his seat to the woman, and said:

"Madam, I beg pardon; I am intoxicated, and can hardly stand, but please have my seat. I'll get over it, but I can't say as much for my neighbors. They are hogs and they never can get over that."

Lens of Peculiar Power.

For obtaining large photographs of distant objects a lens is accommodated without sacrifice of possibility in a novel camera, which divides the focal length into thirds, the light entering the lens being reflected by two mirrors in a Z-shaped path to the plate. By this method a camera 16 inches long provides for a lens of 48 inches focus. Another advantage is that the deficient luminosity obtained with ordinary telephotographic cameras is overcome, and rapid instantaneous photographs may be taken, snapshots in 1-1000 of a second giving clear and well-defined views. In tests from a free balloon of the Swiss Aero club pictures were secured that would have been impossible with an ordinary apparatus. From a distance of nearly a mile scenes in the Rhine valley were photographed and houses, trees and men were distinctly brought out, although such objects were practically indistinguishable in photographs of the kind usually taken.

Foster Fearlessness.

Fearlessness is the natural condition of children, and it should be not only carefully guarded but fostered to a growth that the future cannot affect. There are better and healthier methods of governing children than through fear; a wholesome regard for consequences is another matter, for without it obedience would be a hard lesson to learn. Even that was left out of the education of many grownups to judge by the reckless deeds which are a large part of the day's gleanings in news. Ordinary care would eliminate most of the accidents which befell humanity.

Shown could be prepared for four or five in England in the twelfth century.

Princess

Vitaphone Broadway Star Feature in 3 acts, "O'Garry of The Royal Mounted." This is a drama which combines a heart interest plot with thrills, thrills of the heart interest variety, as well as literal thrills. Such a combination is seldom achieved, and for this we have to thank Ned Finley, who wrote and produced and starred in the picture. The support is given by Edith Storey, who makes a sympathetic character out of Marie LaRose, the ill treated wife of a French Canadian. S. Rankin Drew is seen to good advantage in the role of LaRose. The heavy Jack Brawn is a natural figure as the half-witted Indian, and Paul Logan is seen as the girl's father.

Mr. Finley appears himself as O'Garry, the partner of LaRose, in love with his wife. He lives with them, but finding his feeling too hard to suppress, he leaves and becomes a mounted police. Here he learns that LaRose is a criminal and returns to arrest him.

In the fight that the two men have on a mountain, O'Garry is worsted and falls into the stream many feet below, but LaRose is killed by the depraved Indian, who worships O'Garry because he once saved his life. It's one of the greatest photo plays that the Vitaphone Company has produced in some time. See it today.

Manager Stockley announces that he has contracted for the Famous Player Paramount productions at the Princess to be run twice a week, beginning next Monday.

Crowder Burden.

Canada and the United States.

The area of the Dominion of Canada is 3,668,946 square miles. The area of Continental United States is 3,025,000 square miles. Canada is as big as the United States with a territory to spare that is as large as three German empires and the state of New York.

Optimistic Thought.

We cannot abolish fate, but we can to a measure "illize it."

STOP! WAR!

A remarkable bargain—a great daily newspaper and four magazines for the price of one! Can you afford not to take them? An amazing offer!

The world-wide war is the topic of discussion in every meeting—in the family circle, at the store, after church—wherever people meet. To keep informed everyone should take a daily paper.

Especially it is important to the farmer to keep informed on war news for the price of wheat depends on war. The Evansville Courier—a really great daily newspaper—brings the first war news in this section.

It is the only daily delivered on rural routes on the same day published—bringing all the news of the night fresh from the wires soon after breakfast.

FORMULA FOR COMPUTING A KILOWATT.

A Tennessee editor explains to electric light users what a kilowatt is and how to compute one. Here is the formula:

First, multiply the current by the convenience of the proprietor of the electric light plant; divide this by the meter on the wall and add whatever you can't multiply. The answer will come in dollars and cents. Just divide these by the price you pay per kilowatt and multiply again to find out what a kilowatt is. It is something you can feel, but can't see; something that you pay for according to what someone tells you who doesn't know what he is talking about, and he proves it by the meter that runs by guess and by thunder and is attached to a wall by a hired man with machine grease on his nose. You know just how many kilowatts you have had, just what they cost you apiece, but you don't know what they are, what they look like, who made them, or what shape they are.

Military Dances.

The Highland fling symbolizes victory. The schottische militaire, that was popular some years ago, was another Scotch dance with a military suggestion. Many old prints show that the bagpipe of Scotland accompanied the military dance, as it does today, and to its strains fighting is being done that emulates that of past centuries.

The government of Chile has established an aviation school near Santiago, where army and navy officers are being trained.
